I graduated with Distinction from the Department of Human Sciences of Brunel University (2000), where I got a strong taste of interdisciplinary studies from Steve Woolgar, Mike Lynch, Dick Pels, Dany Nobus, Frederic Vandenberghe, Michael Wright, and Alan Irwin, and then earned my doctoral degree in Sociology from Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences (2006).

I am currently full-time Senior Research Fellow (Associate Professor rank) in Digital Sociology at the Institute of Social Research, National Centre for Social Research (Athens, Greece); Professor Extraordinary at the School of Public Leadership (SPL), Stellenbosch University; Member of the Multistakeholder Committee of the Internet Governance Forum Greece (IGF Greece); and supervise PhD Dissertations and Master Theses on a regular basis.

I am Vice Chair of the Hellenic National Commission for Bioethics and Technoethics (appointed by the Prime Minister of Greece in 14 April 2021).

I am Visiting Professor at the University of Athens (Department of Sociology), and Research Associate at The Anti-Corruption Centre for Education and Research of Stellenbosch University (Western Cape, South Africa), Associate at iSportManagement LAB (Department of Sports Organization and Management, Faculty of Human Movement and Quality of Life Sciences, University of Peloponnese), and Associate Researcher at Athens Panteion University (Laboratory of Virtual Reality, Internet & E-Learning).

I have worked as Research Associate at the Academy of Athens (Research Centre for Greek Society), where my most recent research project (supervised by Emeritus Professor Nikiforos Diamandouros, Life [Regular] Member of the Academy of Athens) involved economic crisis, youth identities, collective narratives, sociocultural processes and political institutions in contemporary Greece, while my previous research (supervised by Emeritus Professor M. Stathopoulos, Life [Regular] Member of the Academy of Athens) was on “Crisis, Self and Identities in Contemporary Greek Society: The Dynamics of Suffering and Social Networks”. My book “Crisis, Institutions, Identities and Youth in Contemporary Greek Society” was published by Academy of Athens in 2018.

My publication record includes more than 100 articles in peer-reviewed journals/collective volumes (h-index=13). I am co-editor of The Social Dynamics of Web 2.0 (Routledge 2014) and Youths in Challenging Situations (Routledge 2018); editor of Revisiting the Self: Social Science Perspectives (Routledge 2015); editorial board member of Contemporary Social Science: Journal of the Academy of Social Sciences (Routledge),

In 2016, after consultations amongst the Fellows of UK Academy of Social Sciences, member learned societies and Council of the Academy, for the names of distinguished social scientists from a range of disciplines and countries around the world, I have been invited to become a member of the Editorial Board of the Academy's scholarly journal, Contemporary Social Science – Official invitation sent by the Academy's Publications Committee – Professors Malcolm Johnson FAcSS (Chair), John Brewer FAcSS, Ann Buchanan FAcSS, Graham Crow FAcSS and David Canter FAcSS. I have contributed more than 15 articles in Blackwell Encyclopedia of Sociology (edited by George Ritzer).
